

Washington, D.C. – Earlier this week Congressman Rooney spoke on the House floor about the confirmed cancer cluster in the Acreage located in Palm Beach County, FL. His comments followed a meeting with family members of cancer victims and residents of the area. Rooney noted the lack of coordination between the residents, state and local officials and the federal agencies involved.

“Residents of the Acreage are looking for and deserve answers about the Cancer Cluster,” said Rooney. “The lack of coordination and communication between all involved is very frustrating and must be addressed immediately. I am committed to working with the families and ensuring they get the attention and resources they need from the federal agencies involved.”
